

TURNING THE TIDE ON NONVIOLENCE IN EDUCATION:

BUILDING CAPACITIES FOR NONVIOLENT LEADERSHIP

Our Guest Speaker Jill Carr-Harris

Over three decades, Jill Carr-Harris has focused on using nonviolent methods to assist with the development of the poor and marginalized women. She is currently completing a doctoral dissertation on nonviolent education at the University of Toronto. In her talk she shares her experience as an activist and an academic to chart a path for the application of Gandhian nonviolence in education and in leadership.
